The State of New York requires this statement to appear on all claims forms:

"Any person who knowingly and with the intent to defraud any insurance company or other persons files an application for insurance or statement of claim containing any materially false information, or conceals for the purpose of misleading information concerning any fact material thereto, commits a fraudulent insurance act, which is a crime, and shall be subject to civil penalty not to exceed five thousand dollars and the stated value of the claim for each violation." Fraudulent insurance acts are a crime in all states, and additionally a felony in several states.
